

User's Guide for the Microfilm Set, Record of Births 1850–1910 and Index to Record of Births, 1910–Dec 1929 for St. Louis, Missouri

This user's guide was created by staff of the Special Collections Department. It is based on a microfilm set of birth registers (1850–1910) and indexes to births (1910–Dec 1929) for the City of St. Louis.

This set is located on Tier 5 at St. Louis County Library Headquarters, located at 1640 S. Lindbergh Blvd., and the microfilm location guide will tell the specific location of this microfilm set within the Department.

OVERVIEW OF THE SET

While this microfilm set contains a wealth of information, it is consistently a challenge to use. Researchers may find pages that are

- in good condition and readable
- in poor condition and nearly impossible to read
- torn, or are missing the tops of pages—containing the dates and headers
- mended with tape, which obscures whatever was written beneath the tape
- usually not numbered
- when numbered, the page numbering appears to be done at a later time and not always to be correct
- blank and form gaps between the pages which do contain recorded information

Keeping this roll-by-roll guide beside the microfilm reader helps one remain oriented while working with this record set that lacks a consistent alphabetical or chronological order.

RECORDS OF BIRTHS, 1850–1910

The records cover the both St. Louis City and County until roughly 1883, then the city only thereafter.

Occasionally in the finding aid listings there is a question mark next to a date. This means that the date was uncertain. On some rolls, when the records were filmed, it appears that the pages were loose within the books and that no effort was made to put the pages into any semblance of order. This listing for these rolls will help locate the needed pages.

Birth records were generally listed in the order in which they were recorded, not in the order of birth. This may mean that a birth for January may not be listed until September if the parents did not register the birth right away. Also, some scattered births may be recorded at the end of the year, so check the end of December for births that occurred earlier in the year. If a birth is not located in the expected place, then check the entire year for that birth.

Occasionally there are no entries for a particular letter for a given time period. The reasons for this are unknown. The most common instance for this is the letter X. It is noted in this guide when entries are missing for a letter or time period or other specific instances where records appear to be missing.

For some of the less common letters, such as I or Q, all the entries are sometimes listed under a single heading with only the year indicated. However, all of the entries for that year are within this list.

Once in a while, a page appears with a sign that says "Correction". A re-filmed page should immediately follow the "Correction" page. Also, a page or pages were sometimes filmed more than once. Simply keep going, and the listings will continue on the following pages.

INDEX TO RECORDS OF BIRTHS, 1910–DEC 1929

These are arranged differently than the birth registers. Within the entries for surnames beginning with a specific letter of the alphabet, vowel headings appear at the top of each page—A, E, I, O, U & Y.

The names are usually listed in a column corresponding to the first vowel following the first letter of the name, for example: Franke would be found in the column headed A, and Abels would be found in the column headed E. Within these headings, the listings are generally arranged by month, so the months are scattered throughout the letter.

Because there are a number of exceptions, it is important to take a look at the entries for any book and see how the clerk(s) arranged the names, then search accordingly. Entries may not be consistent within a book because different clerks entered the information in different ways. Also, the months are more scattered within each letter. Be sure to check the entire listing for any letter for these books.

The last reel of the set, RBSL–25, is different. It does not contain vowel headings and the entries are simply listed by date in order by the first letter of the last name.

Record of Births – City of St. Louis – RBSL–1 1850–1870

Description:

This roll of film contains miscellaneous records that in actuality span the time period from the 1820's to the 1880's. These records consist, for the most part, of regular entries in the birth register such as are to be found in later volumes. However, other records can be found on this roll of film, including baptisms, affidavits and even death records. These records are not only for local events but also include records from other counties, states, and, indeed, other countries in Europe. There are no records for the letters I, Q, T, X, & Y.

The baptisms found here generally follow the standard baptism format found in church registers – name of child, parents' names and, often times, witnesses. They generally give the name of the church, and although most are from local churches, some are from other counties, states and countries. These baptisms may also list the birth information for the parents giving, on occasion, both the date and place of birth. Some of these baptisms are in German. They are generally translated with the original record, but occasionally the translation can be found on the following page.

The affidavits generally consist of a statement by a person, not always the parents, testifying before the clerk as to the birth of a child. At times they contain lengthy additional information besides the birth, such as place of residence and/or birth information for the parents.

There are also several deaths recorded here which, generally, are included with a baptism. One record is simply for a local death and is included in this listing.

The guide below for this roll differs from the later ones in that it includes the page numbers and the span of blank pages as well because the areas of blank pages are so large. In this particular case, listing the page numbers makes it easier to locate the records.

Record of Births – City of St. Louis – RBSL-17

Oct 1906–Jul 1908

Notes:

This looks as though it was filmed from a photocopy; therefore the legibility is not very good. However, it is a positive which can make legibility better. There is a blank sheet in between each page of entries.
